View ads that have a companion digital component in Metro SearchBooks® by looking for the "W" icon next to the filename. Click any page to be taken directly to that content in MCC. Access SearchBooks through the MCC home page or under the Search menu tab. You can also access the Multi-Platform Ad Packages SearchBook from the opening page inside the Creative Library.

Use the tools in MetroCreativeConnection to accelerate access to the Web/Mobile digital ad starters. Under Spec Ads & Covers Filters, you can use check boxes to isolate only Web/Mobile ad starters, or Print with Web/Mobile complements. You can also print a presentation page from the info dialog box that appears when you hover over any thumbnail.

MiAD Wizard and MiAD Desktop allow you to customize Web/Mobile spec ads with your advertiser's name and address information. Like MCC, both Wizard and Desktop interfaces give you a choice of searching for the digital ads. Call 800-223-1600 for a free MiAD trial.

Make the Most of Digital Ads in Campaigns & Classified

Since businesses and publications no longer live by print alone, Metro provides you with a variety of digital ad options. View the selection from Campaigns & Classified and every Metro service in individual SearchBooks or in MCC. There are several ways to view, access and download digital ad starters for Web and mobile use.

SearchBook

One of the easiest ways to view and access digital ad starters from Campaigns & Classified is through the SearchBooks. Click the appropriate month on the SearchBook menu at the top of the MCC home page. You can also click the SearchBook link in the green-blue bar at the top of each library. In the SearchBook window, click the Campaigns & Classified tab to view the most current material. As you browse page by page, ads that have a companion digital component are marked with a "W." Click any page to be taken directly to that content inside MCC, where you'll have complete download access.

You can also view monthly selections of Web/Mobile digital ad starters in the Multi-Platform Ad Packages SearchBooks. Enter the Creative Library and click on the Multi-Platform Ad Pages link on the opening page.

MCC

You can search for digital ad starters in the Creative Library of MCC. All print ads that have a corresponding digital component have a "W" icon below the ad thumbnail. Click on the "W" to access the five most popular sizes available: Banner, Leaderboard, Rectangle, Skyscraper and Wide Banner. You can also type a keyword or two and click on the Print with Web/Mobile or Web/Mobile check box when performing your searches.

MCC digital ad starters are in native Photoshop® (.psd) format, set up in layers as RGB, 72 dpi for your convenience.

MiAD

Web/Mobile ads in MiAD® are great ways to get quick and easy spec ads to present to prospects. Whether you enter through MiAD Wizard or MiAD Desktop, you can select ads, add advertiser info and get a JPEG file that is ready to sell and post.

Web/Mobile ads are another value-added feature of your Campaigns & Classified subscription. Increase your online ad revenue by tapping into this resource, which is readily available at your fingertips. M

CAMPAIGNS

Compound revenue with this quarter's selection of ad campaigns for local businesses.

- Find a 13-part automotive campaign highlighting a variety of vehicle maintenance and repair services, as well as campaigns for auto dealers, real estate, recruitment and your own publication's print and online perks for subscribers (5, 6, 21, 25, 37).
- Find campaigns geared toward health and fitness advertisers with ads for a gym and weight-loss center (1, 3).
- Focus on business and personal accounting advertisers at tax time and all year with two different campaigns (2, 4).
- Seasonal campaigns highlight fireplace showroom offers, ski equipment sales and service, and natural gas distribution services (2-4).
- Promote car wash services with a series of money-saving special offers (1).

AUTOMOTIVE PROMOTIONS

Fuel first-quarter sales from auto dealers with a powerful selection of spec ads.

- Help a local dealer promote MSRP savings on featured vehicles with a print and online campaign for "sticker drive-down days" (5).
- Help auto dealers tie in promotions to holidays and special events with themed ads designed for Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day, Presidents' Day, the Chinese New Year and the Big Game (9, 10, 12, 16).
- Seasonable winter ad themes promote a "winter sales drive" and "winter wonderland of new car specials" (8, 9).
- Year-round promotions focus on service, selection, value, luxury performance, low monthly payments and rebate offers (7, 12, 13-15).
- Target a variety of car care advertisers with a full-page coupon directory (17).

REAL ESTATE PROMOTIONS

Build up sales around real estate advertisers with a fresh crop of content.

- Attract advertising from a local builder with a multi-ad print and online campaign focused on various home models available within a new home community (25).
- Encourage local realtors to present their property picks in personalized ad layouts that spotlight qualities like realtor experience and expertise, mortgage lender partnerships and open house listings (26-29).
- Position your publication as local readers' "home search headquarters" by promoting your print and online home search tools (30).
- Additional ads are designed for a retirement community, winter builder savings, spring grand openings and apartment rentals (30-32).

SUBSCRIPTION & CLASSIFIED AD SELF-PROMOTION

Find ready-made promotions to showcase your publication's valuable features.

- Position your publication as "your community connection" with a print and Web ad campaign. This promotion spotlights locally focused subscriber perks like money-saving coupons and special offers or job and event listings in addition to local, regional, national and world news (21).
- Promote your Classified section's agricultural bent with a promotion focused on "farm-fresh savings" on ag ads (22).
- Find a selection of images that include popular items like electronics, bicycles and sporting goods ideal for creating a Classified merchandise campaign, as well as additional photos and illustrations to promote subscriptions and Classified ad sales (23, 24).

RECRUITMENT

Meet the needs of a wide variety of recruitment advertisers with this quarter's diverse collection of content.

- Use a fresh campaign concept to promote "what's cooking" in restaurant and hospitality careers, or expand it to feature a "job of the day" in any number of industries (37).
- Target a growing real estate group with an ad recruiting new agents to join the team (38).
- Promote mobile job alerts from your own publication (38).
- Show a local career institute how to attract new students to IT programs (40).
- Help a recruitment agency target employers looking to grow their team with qualified professionals (39).

How to save enough for a down payment on a house

A home is the most costly thing many people will ever buy. The process of buying a home can be both exciting and nerve-wracking. One way to make the process of buying a home go more smoothly is to save enough money to put down a substantial down payment.

Saving for a down payment on a home is similar to saving for other items, only on a far grander scale. Many financial planners and real estate professionals recommend prospective home buyers put down no less than 20 percent of the total cost of the home they're buying. Down payments short of 20 percent will require private mortgage insurance, or PMI. The cost of PMI depends on a host of variables, but is generally between 0.3 and 1.5 percent of the original loan amount. While plenty of homeowners pay PMI, buyers who can afford to put down 20 percent can save themselves a considerable amount of money by doing so.

Down payments on a home tend to be substantial, but the following are a few strategies prospective home buyers can employ to grow their savings with an eye toward making a down payment on their next home.

Decide when you want to buy. The first step to buying a home begins when buyers save their first dollar for a down payment.

Deciding when to buy can help buyers develop a saving strategy. If buyers decide they want to buy in five years away, they will have more time to build their savings. If buyers want to buy within a year, they will need to save more each month, and those whose existing savings fall far short of the 20 percent threshold may have to accept paying PMI.

Prequalify for a mortgage. Before buyers even look for their new homes, they should first sit down with a mortgage lender to determine how much a mortgage they will qualify for. Prequalifying for a mortgage can make the home buying process a lot easier, and it also can give first-time buyers an idea of how much they can spend. Once lenders prequalify prospective buyers, the buyers can then do the simple math to determine how much they will need to put down. For example, preapproval for a $300,000 loan means buyers will have to put down $60,000 to meet the 20 percent down payment threshold. In that example, buyers can put down less than $60,000, but they will then have to pay PMI. It's important for buyers to understand that a down payment is not the only costs they will have to come up with when buying a home. Closing costs and other fees will also need to be paid by the buyers.

Examine monthly expenses. Once buyers learn how much mortgage they will qualify for, they will then see how close they are to buying a home. But prospective buyers of all means can save more each month by examining their monthly expenses and looking for ways to save. Buyers can begin by looking over their recent spending habits and then seeing where they can spend less. Cutting back on luxuries and other unnecessary spending can help buyers get closer to buying their next home.

Avoid risky investments. Some times it's great to take risks when investing, but risk should be avoided when saving for a down payment on a home. Traditional vehicles like certificates of deposit, or CDs, and savings accounts can ensure the money buyers are saving for their homes is protected and not subject to market fluctuations.

Saving enough to make a down payment on a home can be accomplished if buyers stay disciplined with regard to saving and make sound financial decisions.

How to turn a hobby into a career

The end of the year tends to be a time to reflect on the previous 12 months. Many people are inspired to find a new career at the dawn of a new year. Some might find it possible to turn hobbies and other interests into ventures that can make money or even serve as new jobs.

Earning a living doing something you love is the ultimate goal for many people. However, before a person tries to turn a hobby into a career, he or she first needs to analyze the situation and give such a momentous decision ample consideration. All hobbies cannot be adapted into lucrative businesses, especially those that are very niche-oriented. The following techniques can help people turn their hobbies into careers.

Streamline and perfect your skill. Before trying to turn a hobby into a career, obtain further training or education, if necessary. Just because you're qualified to do something as an amateur does not mean you can do it as a professional. Research if you need more schooling and pursue that schooling if you find you do.

Appeal to other hobbyists. Hobbyists tend to be quite enthusiastic and passionate about their work. Therefore, your first client base may very well be other hobbyists. Attend street fairs, carnivals and any other gatherings that tend to bring hobbyists together. This can help spread the word about your ventures and open up your work to an extended network of like-minded individuals.

Listen to all feedback. Take criticism and other feedback from as many people as you can. This will help you to really fine tune and professionalize your hobby. Try brainstorming with people, remaining open to what others have to say about your potential business.

Start small and simple. Getting your feet wet in the business world takes an investment of time and money. It's easy to follow the mentality "go big or go home." But with the goal of turning a hobby into a career, you may want to start slowly — taking the bunny hills before skidding down the expert-level slopes. Start selling items or services in the community. Expand to a website. Keep track of your profit margin before you grow your business even further. You must be realistic in your ability to make money that can fully support you and your business.

Write about your interests. You may be able to make money through your hobby without performing the hobby. Become a freelance writer and share expertise through a blog or by contracting with newspapers and magazines. Sharing your expertise can be a lucrative and less costly way to turn a hobby into a new career.

Turning a hobby into a profession may not result in instant success. But with dedication, the dream may come true.
