“The Metro Creative Special Section Templates have been a great asset to our company to help us sell more ads to generate revenue. I would highly recommend Metro Creative to help your business grow.”

CREATE: The Daily Review recently used Metro’s fully templated “Weddings” Themed Special Section to produce a successful “Wedding Planner” insert featuring tips, trends and advice, as well as helpful advertising from local wedding venues and vendors. The publication ran the special section in print and online, and advertising manager Sue Rought says the template was very easy to use.

SELL: Rought says her advertisers love the niche marketing opportunity this special section provides, making it an easy sell for the publication. The section ran online and as an insert in The Daily Review. They also placed overrun copies in high-traffic locations around town.

PROFIT: The publication’s “Wedding Planner” closed ad sales of various sizes from 15 advertisers, including wedding halls, catering companies, jewelry stores, party supply rentals and more. Rought reports that revenue from the special section totaled $3025.
