Holiday Gift Guide Wraps Up $80K in Advertising Revenue

My Horry News
Horry County, South Carolina

Winning formula for a successful Holiday Gift Guide puts local advertisers and events in the spotlight.

CREATE: Last holiday season, My Horry News customized and expanded on a Themed Special Section from Metro to produce a successful 71-page Holiday Gift Guide packed with festive features and local touches. In addition to Metro editorial features, their section included upcoming concerts and community events, a variety of engaging contests, and plenty of local advertising. Contest promotions ran in the print and digital section, as well as on social media, driving traffic to the publication's website for online entry.

SELL: Advertising Director Shari Harms says the publication packages their printed Holiday Gift Guide with holiday contests, digital products and social media promotions each year to get people excited about the holiday season. The sales team uses the previous year's gift guide as a selling tool for new and returning advertisers, and publishing the section the week before Thanksgiving gives them another selling point: Harms says clients appreciate that their advertising is not lost among inserts from the big box stores that come out the week of Thanksgiving! My Horry News starts promoting and selling the section about two months before publishing. In addition to running the section as an insert and online, the publication delivers at least 10 copies of the Holiday Gift Guide to every advertiser for distribution at their business.

PROFIT: Last year's Holiday Gift Guide featured over 100 advertisers, plus contest and event sponsors. Harms says that readers and advertisers alike look forward to receiving the guide each year, and it typically produces over $80,000 for the publication, including the print, digital and contest components. Harms adds, "Metro content is a great help for our small publication. We don't have a budget for content curators, so your templates and content help keep our Holiday Gift Guide fresh and up to date."

'Elf magic' can be a great tool to boost your holiday ad sales

Byline: Robert M. Williams Jr., NNA director of creative resources

Editor's Note: This column first appeared in the April 2025 issue of Publishers' Auxiliary, the newspaper of the National Newspaper Association Foundation. NNA members have access to the Great Ideas bank online at https://www.nnafoundation.org/great-ideas

Being creative is a vital key to boosting your local ad sales revenue! And Deborah Farmer, ad sales manager for the Adel News Tribune in Adel, Georgia, has two extraordinary, innovative ideas that have produced consistent popularity and extra revenue in her rural market deep in South Georgia.

The first is a 24-page soft cover booklet themed around the Christmas holidays. It was inspired by a Metro graphics promotion featuring a holiday elf. The Adel News Tribune built upon the Metro idea in grand fashion by bringing the cartoon elf to life! Farmer's son was a good sport and dressed up in an elf costume and posed for photos with business owners and employees. It was just the right touch to spark extra sales for the holidays.

This Metro Creative Graphics promo section was the spark that helped Georgia's Adel News Tribune bring 'Itsy the Elf' to life and boost their holiday ad sales.

To show more creativity, Farmer wrote a story of her community's history, as told to the elf, and created even more local interest! The newspaper also provided 2,000 extra copies to the local elementary and primary schools.

Here's how Farmer describes it:

"The story was written to educate the children, and the parents who read the story to them, on the history of Cook County, and just how our City of Adel got its name," says Farmer.

"We used Itsy the Elf and Bitsy, his dog, as the main characters in our first books, but in our latest book, we introduced his Grandpa Jack, who told the history lesson to Itsy."

Deborah's second innovative idea is a calendar featuring locally contributed photographs that not only showcase the local community and its people, but also the significant photography talent in Farmer's small community.

The local hospital and related facilities bought the back cover of the calendar.

Here's the story of the Adel News Tribune's successful calendar promo in Deborah Farmer's own words:

"We always get hundreds of submissions for the contest each year," Farmer explains.

"The photographs must be taken in Cook County and by Cook County residents. Each submission is sent via email to me, and they provide me with the location where the photo was taken. We have the photos judged by an independent photographer not in our area to make it fair.

"I am the only one who knows who sent what group of photos. We had to start limiting them to five submissions per contestant. I list the submissions with and without the names, and provide the list without names to the judge.

"The winners have their photo with photo credit placed on a particular month on the calendar, and there is also a separate winner for the cover, as well. I offer advertising space to customers on a first-come, first-served basis for their choice of a particular month they want their ad placed.

"This causes a 'rush' to commit, and customers who own businesses such as jewelry, floral, etc., like specific months according to holidays, and their ads reflect the same. The hospital, school board, city, county offices and domestic violence centers like to be on a page where we provide local contact phone numbers.

"This is a very popular calendar, as some of our businesses pay extra for additional copies to hand out to their customers, since their wholesalers no longer send them stacks every year like they used to.

"So this is a win-win for both our local businesses and their customers, local community support, subscription/rack sales, and advertising revenue."

Creative thinking makes money in Adel, Georgia! Such innovative ideas can make money in your town, too!

From Our Farm to Your Home,

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

It's Christmastime, and we're celebrating everything that brings us together, including the wholesome foods that grace our holiday tables. It's the support of our customers and community that allows us to continue producing quality agricultural products we can all enjoy, and we are abundantly grateful to all of you. You've helped us grow and cultivate success over the years, and we'll continue to work hard to bring our best to the table. Thank you, and warm wishes for a happy holiday and a bountiful new year!

It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like Christmas

As another holiday season comes into focus, we've set our sights on letting friends and customers like you know how much we appreciate your trust in us. Thanks for seeing us through the challenges and giving us so many reasons to celebrate.

We ho-ho-hope this holiday season is your best yet, and that the coming year delivers all you're wishing for and more. Merry Christmas!

Wishing You Stacks of Happiness This Holiday Season

As we get ready to turn the page to a new year, we're moved by all of the memories we have with so many folks who make this community special. Thank you for being a part of our story and believing in our mission. It's an honor to teach here, and your trust and participation keep us striving for excellence, and working hard to support every student's success.

We'd like to take this opportunity to wish all of our students, parents, faculty, friends and associates a happy, healthy and safe holiday. We're inspired by all of you, and we hope you enjoy a wonderful winter break!
